CLEAN-CUT BREAKTHROUGH REPORTED ACHIEVED

London, Feb. 27—(P)—A Berlin broadcast tonight said U. S. troops had reached the Erft river, which flows within eight miles of Cologne.

Paris, Feb. 27—(P)—Ninth Army tanks broke loose in a five-mile advance today and raced within two and a half miles of the Ruhr city of Muenchen Gladbach, while First Army Americans fought in the outer defenses of Cologne and shelled the great cathedral city. Flame-throwing tanks of Lt. Gen. William H. (Texas Bill) Simpson's U. S. Ninth Army crashed into Rheindahlen, 17 miles southwest of the Rhine city of Dusseldorf and 14 miles from Neuss, which lies on the west bank of the Rhine across from the city. The swift pace of Gen. Eisenhower's drive indicated that the Americans would be standing watch on the Rhine well within a fortnight. Half of the distance from the pulverized Roer river line to the mighty river has been covered in the first five days of the onslaught.

By JAMES M. LONG

Paris, Feb. 27—(P)—First Army tanks burst into the outlying defenses of Cologne today as heavy artillery shelled the great cathedral city, while just to the north the Ninth Army advanced nearly four miles to within five of the factory-packed Ruhr basin.

Canadians to the north advanced five miles, capturing the strategic road center of Uedem, and reached outer defenses of the Hockwald defense line guarding the northwest corner of the Ruhr, less than 15 miles away.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's mighty Third Army captured high ground overlooking the Kyll river, moved to within a mile of strategic Bitburg and swept up nine towns in the Eifel along a 30-mile front which was pressed two miles deeper toward the middle Rhine and Coblenz.

All along the 200-mile assault from Emmerich on the lower Rhine to the now solid bridgehead across the Saar river six miles east of Saarburg, the thinly spread German defenses were plaiting at the seams. Spokesmen for both the Ninth and Third armies expressed belief that clean-cut breakthroughs had been achieved.

Prisoners captured in February alone passed $80,000; the total since D-day approached 930,000. And yet only a fraction of Gen. Eisenhower's 79 known divisions had been identified in the great battle of annihilation to clear all Germany west of the Rhine.

Reports hours behind the fast pace of the First Army Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' men were looking at Cologne chimneys and spires 10½ miles ahead.

The Ninth Army captured six towns including Venrath, five miles from Muenchen Gladbach, Westernmost city of the Ruhr. The place is 18 miles from Dusseldorf, administrative center of the Ruhr, and only 15 from Neuss, which lies across the Rhine from Dusseldorf.

The Canadian advance carried to within 22 miles of Duisburg, world's greatest inland port and chief outlet for the Fuhr which in 1942 cradled three fourths of all German war plants.

The Canadians and the American Third and Ninth armies captured 20 German towns overnight. The largest was Erkelenz, a critically

BODIES OF TWO CRASH VICTIMS RECOVERED

Tyrone, Feb. 27—(P)—The bodies of two men, identified as George Brackett, 32, and Leonard Shad, both of Washington, were recovered yesterday amid the wreckage of their plane atop Taber Mountain, about eight miles from Stultz.

The pair had visited Brackett's wife Tuesday and were on their way back to Washington Wednesday when they crashed.

A local pilot, James Gardner, spotted the wreckage Sunday and searching parties set out for it.

STATEWIDE CHECK ON DOG LICENSES COMING

Harrisburg, Feb. 27—(P)—An alarming increase in the spread of rabies in Allegheny county resulted in the department of agriculture ordering a state-wide check-up on all dog licenses in Pennsylvania.

Dr. Charles F. Bishop, head of the bureau of animal husbandry, said yesterday that all dogs found without license tags will be killed and the owners will be subject to prosecution under the state dog law.

Glut of Surplus Food Is Predicted After War's End

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—A prediction that war's end will drop upon American farmers the greatest glut of surplus food in history came today from the house appropriations committee.

Principal reason: The demand for free food in liberated Europe has been far short of expectations. Liberated areas beat American guesses on how long it would take them to restore farm production.

In committee testimony made today Ralph W. Olmstead, vice-president of the Commonwealth Credit Corporation, said:

"The areas of Europe liberated so far—France, Belgium, Italy, Poland, Romania and such places—did not require any such quan-

"Entirely," replied Olmstead.

U. S. First Army units aimed at Cologne scored gains of up to three miles, capturing Merzenich, to the east of fallen Dueren and but 15 miles from the Rhineland industrial city. Ninth Army troops captured Rodingen and Steinstrass in a parallel drive, while to north, Gen. H. D. G. Crerar's Canadian First Army took Weeze.

Investigation Of the Liquor Board Asked

Harrisburg, Feb. 27—(P)—Four complaints against Pennsylvania's $165,000,000 liquor monopoly were filed by the Democratic legislative minority today in renewing demands for an investigation.

Senate Floor Leader John H. Dant listed them as:

Favoritism by store managers in allowing persons to purchase favorite brands.

Allowing discount periods to lapse before paying for liquor purchased from distillers.

Allowing certain localities to get better brands of liquor than others.

Transfer of licenses only after certain persons with political influence had intervened.

The Democratic move followed an announcement by Republican Leader Weldon B. Heyburn that appearance of Liquor Board Chairman Frederick T. Geller and Board Member W. Searight Stuart before the majority party had been cancelled.

Bringing up the same question in the house, Minority Leader Hiram G. Andrews said there is "something very peculiar" when a $165,000,000 business "doesn't take amounts."

Andrews said he was ready to give his information to the Senate or "our own liquor control committee" which "might do a little investigating into these business methods."

He told the house the Liquor Board (Turn to Page Seven)

London, Feb. 27—(P)—A fleet of 1,100 American bombers feinted another attack on Berlin where fires still burned from yesterday's record blow then swerved south today and pounded the big railroad centers of Leipzig and Halle.

The giant bomber train, protected by 700 long-range fighters, stretched for 150 miles as it roared to the targets 90 to 100 miles southwest of Berlin.

As the Americans left their objectives, the German radio said formations of RAF bombers were flying in from the west and that yet other formations attacked from the south.

It was the 15th consecutive day (Turn to Page Seven)

PUNXSUTAWNEY HAS SOME FLOOD DAMAGE

Punxsutawney, Feb. 27—(P)—High waters from Mahoning creek, which courses through Punxsutawney, flooded all low-lying land in the community today, but the damage was not great.

Sections of Church street, Morris Avenue, West Mahoning and Pine street—all residential sections—were flooded.

Melting snow, and an all day rain put 10 to 12 inches of water over the thoroughfares. Cellars were flooded. Auto traffic detoured to higher streets. Cold weather stopped the rise in the creek.

"Entirely," replied Olmstead.

BATTLE FOR TWO BELIEVED NEARING END

Lt. Gen. Smith Declares Capture of Vital Island Will Be Matter of But Few Days

PLANES USE AIRFIELDS

By ELMONT WAITE

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Guam, Feb. 27—(P)—Capture of Iwo Jima "in a few more days" was predicted by Lt. Gen. Holland M. (Howlin' Mad) Smith after his Marines won a critically important hill in the central plateau during a 400-yard advance through probably the heaviest fire of the bitter campaign.

As American planes flew from Iwo's main airfield for the first time, the top Marine commander in the Pacific told newsmen that heavy fighting was ahead of the Devil Dogs on northern Iwo but "we expect to take this island in a few more days."

The general estimated that almost half of the five-mile-long island was in American hands at the start of the second week of the fiercest battle of the Pacific war.

"I consider that progress is satisfactory," General Smith said.

The Marine commander reported the Yanks were becoming more battlewise "and casualties are relatively smaller each day."

Motycanna Airfield No. 1 on southern Iwo Jima was put to use for the first time yesterday as Marine artillery spotter planes, little two-seaters, came down on runways being put into shape for fighters and bombers. The field is 750 miles south of Tokyo.

Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine's Third Marines, in the center of the American battle line, captured Hill 382 just east of the central airfield for a military triumph as significant as the earlier seizure of Mt. Suribachi at the south tip of the little island.

The hill provides direct observation of the major Japanese defenses and troop dispositions on high ground to the north, across which the assaulting Marines still have to make an uphill fight.

Artillery observers on Hill 382 (named after its altitude) now will be able to direct quickly and accurately the murderous fire of Marine mortars and cannon closely supporting the accelerated drive.

The central airfield, Motycanna No. 2, was virtually in Yank hands. Only the northeast tip of the two-strip fighter field remained in enemy control at midnight yesterday.

Labor Bill Enters Second Day of Debate

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—Transports in the Lebanon-Reading area remained paralyzed for the third day as employees of the Reading Street Railway Company failed to return to work today.

The work stoppage, involving approximately 300 persons, is the second day of debate that may extend into next week.

George told a reporter he doesn't think the bill—patched together by the military affairs committee as a substitute for the house-approved work-or-jail measure—amounts to much.

He said he will move to strike off—as revenue legislation which should have originated in the house—a provision to prevent employers who hired individuals contrary to government orders from considering the pay of those workers as a business expense for tax purposes.

The senate bill would give the War Manpower Commission authority to fix plant employment ceilings, and to back them up with fine and jail terms, but carries no penalties against individual workers in industry. The house-approved legislation would make selective service registrants between 18 and 45 subject to severe penalties if they disregarded draft board orders to take or retain essential war jobs.

Former Secretary Of State Jailed

Philadelphia, Feb. 27—(P)—Former Secretary of the Commonwealth James A. Walker was committed to the county prison yesterday for contempt in failing to file an accounting as guardian in a $15,000 estate.

The 66-year-old attorney was appointed guardian of the estate of Betty Ann Burnham on Jan. 27, 1927.

Orphans court ruled that Walker must remain in jail until he has purged himself "of the contempt of court by fulfilling the court order to file the account."

At the time Walker was appointed guardian he entered bond for $30,000 furnished by the Indemnity Insurance Co. of North America.

Last October the company filed a petition to compel Walker to file an accounting of the estate but Walker pleaded illness.

He pleaded illness again yesterday but counsel for the bonding company insisted that action be taken.

Churchill Demands Vote of Confidence From Commons

Prime Minister Gives Personal Assurance of Russia's Good Faith In Plans for the Peace

CHALLENGES CRITICS

By JAMES F. KING

London, Feb. 27—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill declared today the great powers were completely prepared for the collapse of Germany, asserted the proposed Polish frontier would "not sow the seeds of future wars," and gave his personal assurance of Russia's good faith in plans for the peace.

The British leader demand a vote of confidence from commons on the Crimea plans for a peaceful world, challenging particularly those who have criticized the Polish decisions.

He promised drastic and effective steps "to render offensive action by Germany utterly impossible for generations to come," and called on Germany again to surrender.

Churchill said the United States would play a "virtually important part" in a new, far-stronger world security league "which will not shrink from establishing its will against the evil-doer" by force of arms.

Giving the first public account by one of the principals at the momentous Crimea conference, he termed the proposed Polish boundary "the fairest division which can be made between the two countries."

Marshal Stalin has given "the most solemn declarations" that Poland's sovereignty and independence would be maintained, he said, and "this decision has now been joined in both by Great Britain and by the United States."

He declared the objective of the great powers was "to save the world—not to rule it," and that "the world organization cannot be based upon the dictatorship of the great powers."

Churchill interrupted his address an hour for luncheon.

At one point the prime minister delivered a passage which indicated that the question of Russian participation in the war with Japan may have been at least raised at the Yalta conference.

He said the San Francisco

Hopes for Cut In Prices of Clothing

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—Price Administrator Chester Bowles told congress today he hoped to bring down prices of clothing 6 to 7 per cent by next August.

"They are at the top of our order of business," he testified before the senate banking committee.

"It is here that we have had our most dangerous increase in living costs since the hold the line order became effective."

"While the average prices of all items going into the cost of living have increased only 1.5 per cent, clothing prices have increased 11.6 per cent in addition to marked price deterioration."

Bowles appeared in support of legislation to extend the price control stabilization act until Dec. 31, 1946. It is now due to

LATIN WEEK BEING OBSERVED

Latin classes and teachers in our state are this week placing special emphasis upon the importance attached to a study of Latin and are taking stock to see if what they are doing is thoroughly valuable. The Classical Association of Pennsylvania, in which most of the Latin teachers of Warren county are members, takes this means of interesting parents of pupils and prospective pupils in the values to be acquired through its study so that they may hand on to future generations the torch of the very beautiful, practical, efficient, and unique classical civilization.

It is interesting and proof in itself when we consider that the latter part of our state's name comes from the Latin word "silvae" meaning "woods or forests" and that the city Penn founded, Philadelphia, is a Greek word meaning "brotherly love". Benjamin Franklin at the age of ten had read Plutarch's Lives, and in 1872 he had published Poor Richard's Almanac, he studied Spanish, French, Italian, and Latin. It is therefore very fitting that our state continue to train men in the pursuits of the great ones who laid the foundations of our important industrial and historical state.

May fine programs will be given in the large cities; such as, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Here the Beatty Latin pupils have engaged in a composition contest. A number of the parents have ably acted as judges. Each day this week the winner in each of the four class sections will have his name and composition printed in this paper. Watch for it!

G. I. BILL OF RIGHTS

Before long the Veterans Administration will publish 5,000,000 booklets explaining the G. I. Bill of Rights" and legislation for benefits to which the veterans of this war are entitled.

Benefit rolls for World War No. 2 now total nearly 250,000 and are expected to reach 993,000 by June 30, 1946, the Administration reports.

And for the record, it can be reported that the Veterans Administration which handles benefits for all wars, is still paying a pension to the widow of a veteran of the War of 1812. Forty-two veterans of the Mexican War, or their widows, also on the pension rolls are, 3,918 of the Indian Wars, and 21,896 of the Civil War.

Here's a timely military suggestion from DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press war analyst: Guarding the western approach of the once stately but now bomb-shattered cathedral city of Cologne is the little river Erft, which straggles northward across the rolling plain to empty into the Rhine near Duesseldorf, and if you will watch what happens when the Allied advance hits the Erft I believe you will be able to solve the mystery of whether the Germans intend to make a stand west of the Rhine.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

B. F. Armstrong, Missionary of American Sunday School Union

Text: Acts 17:26.

"He hath made of one blood, all nations of men, to dwell on all the face of the earth." Paul is in Athens. His spirit has been greatly stirred within him, as he saw that this great city was given over entirely to idolatry.

Paul was eager that everyone should know, that the whole gospel was for the whole world. The great commission given by Jesus was not simply for the Jews, and to be kept at Jerusalem, but was for every nation and race.

It is said that a careful student of zoology can take bone fossil remains of an animal he has never seen and can tell you exactly to which species it belongs, and even draw a skeleton of the whole animal. He does this on account of the uniformity of the whole structure.

It is so with all the human family. There are many particulars in which there is clear proof that the human family is one, that God is the Father of us all. It is true as the poet says:

"We err in human kindness
And forget that we are dust,
We mislead the law of kindness
In our struggles to be just."

Not only did God make of one blood all nations, but he appointed the bounds of their habitations; every nation thus had its lot appointed by God, as truly as the Israelites had the land of Canaan.

Thus the Canaanites have been supplanted by the Jews, the Jews by the Saracens, the Saracens by the Turks, etc. This is likewise true of individuals. We are all born in sin, but each of us is a free moral agent; that is, we have the right of choosing either right or wrong, so if we deliberately sin and go out into the far country, we are on the devil's territory and belong to Satan.

If we are all one, let us show it in our dealings with others, in our willingness to help each other, and to encourage others along the pathway of life.

Help us to realize that this earth is not our home, but that we are pilgrims and strangers here below, and that in Christ we who were sometimes afar off are now made nigh by the blood of Christ.

"As you say, ma'am. Stick close to me. Well, look who's coming, if it ain't that old galoot, Hardtack!"

Around a yucca clump, astride the road and leading a cow pony, the old prospector ambled into view. Behind him trudged the burros.

"Figured I'd run across you folks," he grunted. "You sure made a dandy fight, Mike."

"You're a swell sight for sore eyes, old-timer," grinned O'Shane.

"How in creation did you get through?"

"Been lying doggo all day watching you fellers trade lead. When the bosses drifted in, I grabbed 'em and moseyed into the desert." He slid out of the saddle. "Guess I'll drift, this ruckus riles my jinnies. So long!" Abruptly, he turned and plodded off through the sage, the two burros following at his heels, like his battered body relaxed.

"We're hitting for the Turkey," he said, in response to her protesting glance. "You need attention for that head wound and you'll be among friends."

"WELL, what have you two been doing?" cried Viola in surprise, when they dismounted at the Turkey. She slipped her arm around Joan. "Why, you poor dear, you look half dead. You should steer clear of this fighting Irishman," she grinned towards O'Shane. "He attracts bullets like a magnet attracts steel."

"If it wasn't for him, I'd be—oh, I don't know where I'd be," Joan's voice broke.

Seated on the gallery, O'Shane told the Colonel of the fight for possession of the Double O and the kidnaping of its owner.

"I got something that will jolt Si," said the redhead. He unrolled Pecos' confession and handed it to the Colonel.

"A strange document!" mused Thornton. "It exonerates you, O'Shane, but I doubt if it will convict Wacker."

"I'm riding in to see the Marshal, pronto. I figure we got Si on the run."

It has been estimated that privately owned automobiles have carried 75 per cent of the country's local essential transportation load during the first three years of the war, and also that the family car has carried four out of every five war workers, through the media of car pools and such, to their jobs in essential war work.

There is at the present time an estimated $90,000,000,000 worth of fire insurance in force in the United States.

They Lost 268 Pounds in Jap Prison

Workers Pay Tribute To W. C. Norris

In the current issue of the Workers Company News published for and by the employees of the W. C. Norris Company, Tulsa, Okla., there appeared a most interesting resume of the life of the late W. C. Norris, formerly of this city. And there also appears on another page an article from the Warren Times-Mirror regarding the reunion, ball game and banquet of the Norris Athletic Club on September 7, 1935.

The article relative to Mr. Norris is as follows:

In the foothills of the Allegheny mountains where the history of oil had its beginnings, W. C. Norris, manufacturer, began his career—a career that has touched the life of hundreds of men and their families.

And the character of the Allegheny's became the character of young Norris.

The splendor of the country might have created the imagination which urged a young man who, in his teens, took a job with Hutchinson & Morris, Auctioneers. Norris at that time traveled through Pennsylvania, New York, Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois auctioning jewelry.

But already before that time the rugged thrust of the hills as they stretched upward into one of America's great mountain ranges showed itself in Norris. He saved enough money from his wages while working in his father's shop to pay his own way through Rochester (New York) Business University.

WASHINGTON UNIT MEETS IN TIONA

With a large number in attendance for the February meeting of the Washington PTA at Tiona, Mrs. Brenan, president, conducted the business session, opening with singing "My Tribute" and the PTA Prayer. The next executive meeting and group study was announced for March 7 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hannold.

The committee in charge of purchasing a stove for the room to be used by the Girl Scout troop reported that a stove had been bought and installed. The attendance award was won by Miss Brenan's room and the president called attention to the display of awards received by the unit during the past year.

Following the business session, Miss Brenan had charge of two musical recordings, "I'll See You Again" and "Flight of the Bumblebee". The center of attraction for the evening was the Scout exhibit depicting a model Scout camp, carefully planned and skillfully executed to the smallest detail by the Scout members and the object of much favorable comment. Scoutmaster Vivian Brenan presented Scouts in the following hulmorous stunts: "Operation by Dr. Killum Quick", "Boy Scout Grindstone", "A Try at Hypnotism", "Moral: Don't Gamble", "Six Thirsty Scouts".

Following the program, a Washington lunch, in charge of first room mothers, was served at tables attractively decorated for the season. An added feature was the decorated Founders Day cake.

The Section Two champions invade Oil City this evening to disprove all previous reports that the Oilers could have upset the local crews' championship bid had the Titusville affair not appeared. Mentor Joseph A. Massa and his jubilant Dragon squad takes to the road for two engagements on the Lincoln Junior High School hardcourt, the Blue and White Seconds tangling with the Oiler Junior Varsity at 7:30, and the varsity teams scheduled for 8:30.

The Dragons, having repeated last year's feat of coping the Sectional honors, are eagerly awaiting this evening's engagement. The local boys hope to prove to member teams that their winning the championship was not due to Titusville's forfeiture.

A new addition to the Blue and White starting five will have to be made for tonight's encounter. Hammerbeck having left for military service. Coach Massa is undecided on the exact combination, but he may shift Tom Juliano to the open guard post and insert Vinnie Gray in the vacated forward post. Al Babcock may get the call to replace Hammerbeck, however. Joe Scalise, who has an opportunity to capture the Section scoring title, George Lucia, and Jack Eaton will retain their starting berths against the determined Oil City quint.

The Dragons will have a tough assignment tonight when they face several of the Section's top scorers. Jerry Wood, giant center, is back in action and going strong. Hud Wells will place Pearson and Greenawalt at the forward positions, Wood at the center spot,

Now to get back to the matter at hand—that of the best basketball shot that ever hit Warren High. I still maintain it was Al Wolfe, regardless of that 1938 team. Your sports writer did not come out openly and contend that there was or had been a better shot or all-around player who had worn the Blue and White, but he took me to all the whistle stops the 1938 team had met, such as Sykesville, Clarion Mt. Jewett, and Farrell. Well here's the old glue pot let's stick to the issue.

The 1923-24 season saw us play 29 (plus) games. The plus includes the Tidiotie fracas with the town team which J. B. scheduled after the season was over so they could raise enough money to erect a new sports palace—or something, and also the game where we combined with the Nameless Five to take over the Sheffield-N. Y. Nationals combo. In this last contest the M-5 group pulled the well known double on us and let us take over for the entire last half after splitting the first half with them both in play and lineup: Now to get down to figures. In the majority of these games, Al did not play the entire game but nevertheless he ran up a total of 465 points for a 16 plus average per game. That's shootin' brother—even on a pinball machine.

Let's review some of these games. There was the Clarion Normal game a battle that worried us no little until game time. Then J. B. (remember him, he's the mentor who used to pull rabbits out of a hat when he thought things were black?) well, he gives Al the ball and says: "Wolfe, old boy, go out and make with the basket." That's all he said, or words to that (Turn to Page Eight)

Duquesne Favored As Cago Eliminations Start Tonight

By TOM SHRIVER

Harrisburg, Feb. 27—(P)—Duquesne High's basketball team swings into action tonight against Connellsville on the neutral McKeepsport floor in defense of the state championship won last year at the expense of Hazleton's Mountaineers.

The game will be the first of a long series of eliminations that eventually will result in the eastern and western winners meeting for the 1945 crown on March 24 at a site still to be selected.

This clash between Duquesne, Section Six title-holders in District Seven, and Connellsville, Section

Nine champions, is the feature attraction on a program that includes three other District Seven games and many league and independent contests.

Sharon meets Beaver Falls at Farrell in a playoff for Section Three honors; Rankin and Turtle Creek clash at East Pittsburgh in Section Seven; and Brentwood and Mt. Lebanon plays at Dormont in a Section Eight game, all in District Seven.

In District Two the Wyoming Valley League closes with Plymouth, favorite for eastern honors at home with Nanticoke; while the Lackawanna League continues until Friday with Scranton Central the tri-county champion in the second half playing at Scranton Tech in a crucial loop.

Kane plays at Sheffield in the final game of the Monday League schedule, and needs to remain deadlocked with way in District Nine. In District One, Erie Tech, Millcreek, and Sharpsville are the semi-finalists.

District One and District play-offs get under way later in the week, while Foster Town first half champions, and McKeepsport second half title-holders in the threethird League meet at Haile tomorrow night for the right to enter the District Two elimination.

According to the 1940 census over one-third of all dwellings in the United States were substandard.

London, Feb. 27—(P)—A Berlin broadcast tonight said U. S. troops had reached the Erft river, which flows within eight miles of Cologne.

Paris, Feb. 27—(P)—Ninth Army tanks broke loose in a five-mile advance today and raced within two and a half miles of the Ruhr city of Muenchen Gladbach, while First Army Americans fought in the outer defenses of Cologne and shelled the great cathedral city. Flame-throwing tanks of Lt. Gen. William H. (Texas Bill) Simpson's U. S. Ninth Army crashed into Rheindahlen, 17 miles southwest of the Rhine city of Dusseldorf and 14 miles from Neuss, which lies on the west bank of the Rhine across from the city. The swift pace of Gen. Eisenhower's drive indicated that the Americans would be standing watch on the Rhine well within a fortnight. Half of the distance from the pulverized Roer river line to the mighty river has been covered in the first five days of the onslaught.

Paris, Feb. 27—(P)—First Army tanks burst into the outlying defenses of Cologne today as heavy artillery shelled the great cathedral city, while just to the north the Ninth Army advanced nearly four miles to within five of the factory-packed Ruhr basin.

Canadians to the north advanced five miles, capturing the strategic road center of Uedem, and reached outer defenses of the Hockwald defense line guarding the northwest corner of the Ruhr, less than 15 miles away.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's mighty Third Army captured high ground overlooking the Kyll river, moved to within a mile of strategic Bitburg and swept up nine towns in the Eifel along a 30-mile front which was pressed two miles deeper toward the middle Rhine and Coblenz.

All along the 200-mile assault from from Emmerich on the lower Rhine to the now solid bridgehead across the Saar river six miles east of Saarburg, the thinly spread German defenses were plitting at the seams. Spokesmen for both the Ninth and Third armies expressed belief that cleancut breakthroughs had been achieved. Prisoners captured in February alone passed $80,000, the total since D-day approached 930,000. And yet only a fraction of Gen. Eisenhower's 79 known divisions had been identified in the great battle of annihilation to clear all Germany west of the Rhine.

Reports hours behind the fast pace of the First Army Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' men were looking at Cologne chimneys and spires 10½ miles ahead. The Ninth Army captured six towns including Venrath, five miles from Muenchen Gladbach, westernmost city of the Ruhr. The place is 18 miles from Dusseldorf, administrative center of the Ruhr, and only 15 from Neuss, which lies across the Rhine from Dusseldorf.

The Canadian advance carried to within 22 miles of Duisburg, world's greatest inland port and chief outlet for the Ruhr which in 1942 cradled three fourths of all German war plants.

German Broadcasts Report Heavy Battles Along the Oder-Neisse River Facing Capital

MOSCOW STILL SILENT

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

London, Feb. 27—(P)—The Red Army, breaking through for 30 miles in Pomerania in a bid to slice Danzig and Gdynia from the Reich, has thrust to Lubitz and Rummelsburg, 28 and 36 miles from the Baltic, the German high command said today.

A Berlin broadcast said the Soviets had forged even beyond Rummelsburg on the military highway running 31 miles north to Stolp, a communications junction 62 miles east of Danzig.

The German communiqué said the Russians had thrown bridgeheads over the Neisse river 50 to 60 miles southeast of Berlin, but that these had been knocked back.

Nazi reports of tank battles racing along the Oder-Neisse river suggested the First White Russian and First Ukrainian armies might have opened an offensive to topple Berlin.

Moscow remained silent on activities at this gate to Berlin. (Turn to Page Seven)

BODIES OF TWO CRASH VICTIMS RECOVERED

Tyrone, Feb. 27—(P)—The bodies of two men, identified as George Brackett, 32, and Leonard Shade, both of Washington, were recovered yesterday amid the wreckage of their plane atop Taber Mountain, about eight miles from Stultz.

The pair had visited Brackett's wife Tuesday and were on their way back to Washington Wednesday when they crashed.

A local pilot, James Gardner, spotted the wreckage Sunday and searching parties set out for it. (Turn to Page Seven)

Glut of Surplus Food Is Predicted After War's End

Washington, Feb. 27—(P)—A prediction that war's end will drop upon American farmers the greatest glut of surplus food in history came today from the house appropriations committee.

Principal reason: The demand for free food in liberated Europe has been far short of expectations. Liberated areas beat American guesses on how beat it would take them to restore farm production.

In committee testimony made public today Ralph W. Olmstead, vice-president of the Commodity Credit Corporation, said:

"The areas of Europe liberated so far—France, Belgium, Italy, Poland, Romania and such places—did not require any such quan-

Lt. Gen. Smith Declares Capture of Vital Island Will Be Matter of But Few Days

PLANES USE AIRFIELDS

By ELMONT WAITE

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Guam, Feb. 27—(P)—Capture of Iwo Jima "in a few more days" was predicted by Lt. Gen. Holland M. (Howlin' Mad) Smith after his Marines won a critically important hill in the central plateau during a 400-yard advance through probably the heaviest fire of the bitter campaign.

As American planes flew from Iwo's main airfield for the first time, the top Marine commander in the Pacific told newsmen that heavy fighting was ahead of the Devil Dogs on northern Iwo but "we expect to take this island in a few more days."

The general estimated that almost half of the five-mile-long island was in American hands at the start of the second week of the fierce battle of the Pacific war.

"I consider that progress is satisfactory," General Smith said. The Marine commander reported the Yanks were becoming more battlewise "and casualties are relatively smaller each day."

Motycanna Airdrome No. 1 on southern Iwo Jima was put to use for the first time yesterday as Marine artillery spotter planes, like two-seaters, came down on runways being put into shape for fighters and bombers. The field is 750 miles south of Tokyo.

Old Man River is Behaving
Beautifully as Snow Melts

Warren county streams swollen by melting snow which moved ice only to have it gorge have all about emptied of ice and the waters are receding into the stream courses. The Allegheny river here is behaving nicely as the waters of the melting snow and ice move out. Last night the stream rose about one foot until it reached a stage of a little over 9 feet. The cold wave that hit the county last night is having its effect in checking the river rise. The Conewango is also up fairly well and the lines of the dam in the creek just above the Pennsylvania avenue bridge can still be noticed but not markedly.

Calls were received from Pittsburgh during the night evidencing the worry being evidenced there over the river stages. The flood control dams along the Allegheny are now absorbing much of the water in the streams on which they are located. The dam on the Tionesta at present has 64 feet of water back of the dam and the engineer charge there this morning stated that three times that much water could be stored before it poured over the spillway. Dams on the Mahoning and Crooked Creek as well as the partially completed Loyalhanna Dam are all working now on flood control and are storing thousands of gallons of water. The effect is being felt on the Allegheny at Pittsburgh. The big lake being formed back of the Tionesta dam is expected to reach Maybury forming the largest lake that has yet been formed back of the dam since it was put into operation.

That Pittsburgh has reason to worry is evidenced by the following dispatch received by the Times-Mirror via the Associated Press wires:

Pittsburgh, Feb. 27—(A)—Swollen by two days of rainfall, the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers were rising rapidly today and the weather bureau forecast a crest of five or six feet over flood stage in Pittsburgh early tomorrow.

Flood stage here is 25 feet, and a crest of 30 or 31 feet would put water over the banks of the rivers on low-lying streets on Pittsburgh's north side. Weather Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said this also would back up water in sewers and flood downtown cellars along the river.

Early today the rivers climbed to 19.5 feet and spread over the Water street wharf, barricading the adjoining roadway.

The rainfall ranged from one-half to one and one-half inches over the Monongahela and averaged three-quarters of an inch over the Allegheny.

The rain changed into snow as the temperature dropped early today, thus cutting down the runoff into rivers.

Two inches of snow were reported in Butler and Kittanning and other western Pennsylvania sections reported flurries.

Erie, which saw a week-end thaw melt away accumulations of snow and ice dating to the December blizzard, was also hit by snow.

Crushes in the cabin of his tractor-trailer unit as the big machine went out of control and ran into a stone wall, Clifford Crist, 38, Frewsburg, N. Y., was instantly killed about 4 p. m. Monday at a point near the Toy garage on the Fryburg road about seven miles from Oil City.

Crist was en route toward Oil City with a load of lumber at the time the accident occurred. The machine went out of control when it hit a dip in the road and the tractor unit swung head-on into the stone wall to the right of the highway. At the same time the lumber shifted forward and between the impact with the wall and the weight of the lumber, the driver's cab was crushed.

It was necessary to have a truck hitch onto the back of the cab and pull it into some semblance of shape before the body of Crist, who was alone at the time, could be removed.

Following his investigation of the case, Dr. P. E. Cunningham of Franklin, county coroner, issued a certificate of accidental death. A fractured skull was listed as the immediate cause of death.

Pvt. Walter Jozefowicz and Pvt. Charles Hancuff of the Franklin barracks, state police, also conducted an investigation and reported that the tractor-trailer unit was owned by Crist who was engaged in hauling lumber for J. P. Dods and Son of Ashtabula, O. The police said the tractor was completely wrecked.

The choir of the Lutheran church furnished the music and the men of the Pilgrim Holiness church ushered.

Tonight Dr. Depp will speak on "Prisoners of Christ" with the choir of the Evangelical churches and the United Brethren church singing and the men from Emanuel Evangelical and Reformed church ushering. The hour is 7:30 o'clock.

The body was removed to the Stanley funeral home in Frewsburg today. Plans for the services have not been completed. Mr. Crist was a graduate of the Clymer high school, being a member of the famous "Flying Dutchman" basketball team. He was a member of the IOOF at Frewsburg, the Rod and Gun Club, Business Men's Association, and the Methodist church at that place.

New Airport Here Suggested
By State Aeronautical Board

Chairman William R. McMillan (R.-Indiana county) last evening offered legislation in the House of Representatives at Harrisburg last night to take care of the program of airport construction proposed by Governor Ed Martin. The bill would care for the building of 145 new ports and the expansion and improvement of 93 existing fields. Under the suggestion made and the legislation presented the state would share with municipalities in financing the $34,512,700 development of the state aeronautics commission.

Under the proposed plan, the present airport in Warren would not be improved by any expenditure but a new airport at a cost of $417,000 would be built with 2700 to 3700 foot runways. This would allow larger planes to land here than can at the present time. Youngsville and Sheffield are also included in the plan and for Youngsville the sum of $22,500 would be apportioned for a field with runway 1800 to 2700 feet. Sheffield would have the sum of $33,500 with runways similar to those for Youngsville.

It is noted that the appropriation made for the new Warren airport is larger than for any other in this end of the state. The big port at Bradford being constructed by Federal and other funds will not receive attention. Kane, Ridgway, Johnsonburg, Brookville and other towns in this section get appropriations of from $25,000 to $50,000. St. Marys is to receive $32,000 for a port with runways of 1800 to 2700 feet.

The $34,512,700 expenditures proposed do not include land nor buildings but only the actual construction of the ports, leveling, etc. Enactment of the Federal Airport Aid Act, the commission pointed out will cut the expenditure of the state and municipalities to about one third of the amount shown in the proposal.

McMillan's aeronautics bill would:

Appropriate $3,725,000 to start the development program during 1945-47.

Allot the $400,000 biennial revenue from the aviation gasoline tax to the aeronautics commission instead of the highway fund for development of civil aeronautics.

Amend the aeronautics code to permit matching funds with municipalities and giving the commission more latitude in formulating a long-range program.

Enactment of an aeronautics program was asked by Governor Martin at start of the legislative session and a bill to permit local communities to control height of structures and trees on land adjoining to airports already has been introduced as part of the plan.

The commission, headed by Commerce Secretary Chalfant, said its proposed system of airports would place Pennsylvania on a par with any state in air travel facilities.

Objective is that every municipality of 5,000 or more population will be within five miles of an airport facility, declared William L. Anderson, commission executive director.

He said the whole plan depends on local initiative and the state is not going out and build airports for anybody or force development on any municipality.

Quick provision of funds for engineering work was urged so municipalities participating can acquire land for construction. It was explained privately owned would have to be taken over by municipalities to come under the plan.

Penelec is a symbol of service. Part of that service is planning for the future electric needs of the community. Because it takes years to build a modern power station, the men responsible for bringing you 'round the clock electric service saw to it that enough generating capacity was planned and installed to meet the growing needs of all customers—far in advance of the actual demand. That's why it has never been necessary to ration essential electricity, despite the record breaking demand for this vital service. What's more, the price you pay for electricity is lower now than at any time in history.

Not one but several strategically located power stations now serve Penelec's customers—including important war industries. The electric energy produced in these plants today is helping wartime America in the fight for world freedom. Tomorrow, it will help peacetime America enjoy the freedom for which so many are giving so much. ★ ★ ★ Keep buying war bonds and hold them.

LATIN WEEK BEING OBSERVED

Latin classes and teachers in our state are this week placing special emphasis upon the importance attached to a study of Latin and are taking stock to see if what they are doing is thoroughly valuable. The Classical Association of Pennsylvania, in which most of the Latin teachers of Warren county are members, takes this means of interesting parents of pupils and prospective pupils in the values to be acquired through its study so that they may hand on to future generations the torch of the very beautiful, practical, efficient, and unique classical civilization.

It is interesting and proof in itself when we consider that the latter part of our state's name comes from the Latin word "silvae" meaning "woods or forests" and that the city Penn founded, Philadelphia, is a Greek word meaning "brotherly love". Benjamin Franklin at the age of ten had read Plutarch's Lives, and in 1772 he had published Poor Richard's Almanac, he studied Spanish, French, Italian, and Latin. It is therefore very fitting that our state continue to train men in the pursuits of the great ones who laid the foundations of our important industrial and historical state.

May fine programs will be given in the large cities; such as, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh. Here the Beatty Latin pupils have engaged in a composition contest. A number of the parents have ably acted as judges. Each day this week the winner in each of the four class sections will have his name and composition printed in this paper. Watch for it!

G. I. BILL OF RIGHTS

Before long the Veterans Administration will publish 5,000,000 booklets explaining the G. I. Bill of Rights and legislation for benefits to which the veterans of this war are entitled.

Benefit rolls for World War No. 2 now total nearly 250,000 and are expected to reach 993,000 by June 30, 1946, the Administration reports.

And for the record, it can be reported that the Veterans Administration which handles benefits for all wars, is still paying a pension to the widow of a veteran of the War of 1812. Forty-two veterans of the Mexican War, or their widows, also on the pension rolls are, 3,918 of the Indian Wars, and 21,896 of the Civil War.

Here's a timely military suggestion from DeWitt MacKenzie, Associated Press war analyst: Guarding the western approach of the once stately but now bomb-shattered cathedral city of Cologne is the little river Erft, which straggles northward across the rolling plain to empty into the Rhine near Dusseldorf, and if you will watch what happens when the Allied advance hits the Erft I believe you will be able to solve the mystery of whether the Germans intend to make a stand west of the Rhine.

LENTEN SERMONETTE

B. F. Armstrong, Missionary of American Sunday School Union

Text: Acts 17:26.

"He hath made of one blood, all nations of men, to dwell on all the face of the earth." Paul is in Athens. His spirit has been greatly stirred within him, as he saw that this great city was given entirely to idolatry.

Paul was eager that everyone should know, that the whole gospel was for the whole world. The great commission given by Jesus was not simply for the Jews, and to be kept at Jerusalem, but was for every nation and race.

It is said that a careful student of zoology can take bone fossil remains of an animal he has never seen and can tell exactly to which species it belongs, and even draw a skeleton of the whole animal. He does this on account of the uniformity of the whole structure.

It is so with all the human family. There are many particulars in which there is clear proof that the human family is one, that God is the Father of us all. It is true as the poet says:

"We err in human kindness
And forget that we are dust,
We miss the law of kindness
In our struggles to be just."

Not only did God make of one blood all nations, but he appointed the bounds of their habitations; every nation thus had its lot appointed by God, as truly as the Israelites had the land of Canaan.

Thus the Canaanites have been supplanted by the Jews, the Jews by the Saracens, the Saracens by the Turks, etc. This is likewise true of individuals. We are all born in sin, but each of us is a free moral agent; that is, we have the right of choosing either right or wrong, so if we deliberately sin and go out into the far country, we are on the devil's territory and belong to Satan.

If we are all one, let us show it in our dealings with others, in our willingness to help each other, and to encourage others along the pathway of life.

Help us to realize that this earth is not our home, but that we are pilgrims and strangers here below, and that in Christ we who were sometimes afar off are now made nigh by the blood of Christ.

BEHIND THE LINES

the game and go ahead, but a "hot" night for the Green and White and an "off" night for the Swansons paved the way for the Sylvania win. Sylvania will meet the Weismen in a three-game series, which will probably be played next week.

In the first game, the Forge had a tough time equaling the fast pace set by the youthful Baker crew. Nick Creola's cagers, paced by Bill Meneo with 15 points and Dave Wright with 11, kept on an even basis with the high school crew, but the last quarter Baker scoring spurt iced the battle.

My Gas Range is a Precision Tool, too

I learned about 'close tolerances' and millions of an inch measurements in my war job but right in my own kitchen I have a cooking tool that's a marvel of precision control—my modern Gas range.

"It's good to know you can start your cooking and find time to rest or do other things because you know just when the food on the range will be ready.

"Nothing can equal it for instant heat and the exact temperature that recipes call for. I don't have much time to pre-cleaning and scouring of pots and pans. A Gas Kitchen surely frees a housewife from a world of anxieties and hard work."

Buy and hold War Bonds so you can avail yourself in post-war days of the grand new Gas equipment for cooking, hot water, refrigeration, home heating and summer cooling that the Gas industry is planning for you. Keep in touch with your Gas Company or Gas Equipment Dealer.

Air Forces Develop the Questioning of War Prisoners Into a Very Fine Science

By NEA Service

U. S. AAF Tactical Training Center, Orlando, Fla., Feb. 20—The story is told of a British flyer shot down over Germany and seriously injured in his crash landing. When he came to, he was in a British hospital. Surrounding him were British doctors, British nurses, British hospital equipment and food. The flyer didn't know how it had been done, but figured that somehow he had been rescued by friendly peasants, smuggled through the lines and brought back home.

In these friendly surroundings the British flyer talked and in his long convalescence he talked plenty. When he was fully recovered he stepped from his hospital room—to discover that he was in a prisoner of war camp in Germany. German intelligence services had built up this elaborate stage setting and cast it with actors who had lived and studied in England and had their British accent down pat, for the sole purpose of gaining information about the RAF.

But two can play at this game, and the science of information about the enemy through questioning of prisoners of war has been developed to a fine point, with a high degree of skill in understanding the peculiar German psychology.

U. S. Air Forces training to take the offensive in this intellectual type of warfare, which is really a battle of wits
